BLACKBERRY PIE-EATING CONTEST (following the pie bake-off)

Few summer events are more traditional, artistic, athletic, and wholesome than our annual “no-hands” pie-eating contest. The Lowell High School Wrestling Team sponsors this event.

PIE-EATING CONTEST RULES:

- Each contestant will pay a $1.00 entry fee and will receive one piece of pie, home baked from local blackberries.
- Use of hands and eating utensils is prohibited.
- Cheerleading and wagers are permitted, however, contestants are reminded that “no hands” pie-eating is a solo event rather than a team sport. Physical assistance from others is considered unsportsmanlike conduct.
- Contestants may be divided into age groups, depending on the number of entrants.
- First contestant to completely finish their pie wins!
- Contestants are encouraged to wear clothing that is either disposable or borrowed.
- All judges’ decisions are subject to criticism but are final.

All remaining pies will be auctioned or sold by the piece.
Proceeds from these events will be used for Lowell school programs.
